Course Name

The Respectful Workplace (eLearning)

Course Description

The Respectful Workplace Virtual Workshops have been developed and rolled out across the business between 2021 and 2023

To meet the demand to provide access to the Respectful Workplace training, this course is now available as an eLearning option.

The aim of this course is to provide thought-provoking input for all colleagues which strikes the right balance between scrutinising unacceptable behaviours and developing a can-do attitude to creating a more respectful workplace where everyone feels included. As a result of the training, we are looking for a shift in behaviours that help to create an atmosphere of respect and to instil confidence in employees when it comes to speaking up when things aren't right. The training intervention also seeks to create a common vocabulary and understanding about respect throughout the organisation.

Audience

This is suitable for any staff but is particularly aimed at people new to the organisation. This would include NR employees and contractors working within the NR organisation
